

Today's "iGeneration" Speaks Out on Education

Aventa Learning's "Beyond the Classroom" survey of 13-to-17-year old high-touch, high-tech students revealed that these teens are turning to outside resources and technology to stay challenged and engaged.

Teens for Educational Change

88%

want more electives, online classes and flexible schedules

> 50%

prefer learning through watching and practice

College-bound, but are they ready for the 21st Century?

Overcrowded & feeling "lost in the shuffle"

> 33%

Have to ask for challenges if doing well

60%

Feel they have to ask for help if falling behind

90%

Have technology access but are limited to basics (online research, PowerPoint, Excel)

Daily Concerns

42%

Experience boredom

55%

Say bullying is a problem

48%

Are distracted by other kids

Good news for parents & teachers

Nearly 90%

Plan to go to college or technical school

43%

Rank college as #1 "want to do" after high school